

SENATE TO RUSH BEER BILL TO HARDING

NEW AUTO PARKING
ORDINANCE AGREED UPON BY COUNCIL WOULD MAKE SWEEPING
CHANGES ON MILWAUKEE STREET.

MAY PASS JULY 11
Calls for Parallel Parking at Many Points—Permits
Short Stops.

Absolute elimination of auto parking on Milwaukee street, from River street to Bluff street, and parallel parking on the balance of Milwaukee street as far as Academy, are features contained in the revised ordinance tentatively agreed upon by the council Monday night. It is expected it will be passed, July 11.

The council, with Ad. George Smith the only absent member, had adjourned until 10 p.m. for further auto parking bills of the subject were given considerable time. The other ordinances were passed—one adopting parts of the general charter law to give the city power to license, to give the city power to license, provides city hall offices to be kept regulate and control the location of billboards; and the other fixing an 8-hour day for city employees and the majority of the officials. This open from 8 to 12 and 1 to 5 o'clock daily with Saturday afternoons off during June, July and August. The exceptions are that the water and city treasurer's offices be kept open extra hours during collection periods.

"We older days" of the council were revisited at the opening of the session when electric lights were switched off by effects of the storm and business had to be transacted by the flickering rays of gas jets which apparently had not been used in years. The electric current was back on duty within five minutes.

The new parking law, which applies to the hitching of teams as well as covering cars, is practically the same as the one offered last year but held over on account of tie-up of many streets with paving.

NO PARKING

Milwaukee street—Bluff to River.
South Franklin—Milwaukee to post-office alley.
North and South Main streets—100 feet either side of Milwaukee street intersection, (Now in effect).

North River street—Opposite West Side fire station.

PARKING, PAYING ONLY
North Academy—Railroad tracks to Milwaukee—Academy to River.

Court and Pleasant streets—Main to River.

RIGHT ANGLE PARKING
South Main—From end of 100 foot zone to Court.

North Main—From end of 100 foot zone to North River.

DEFINES "PAKING"

The ordinance says a car is parked when it is left unattended, or when it is left attended for more than five minutes. Parallel parking is meant parallel to the curb. Motorists will be required to keep their cars at least three feet apart and have both front and rear right wheels not more than 18 inches from the curb. Parkers would also be prohibited within an area of a few feet either side of fire hydrants.

The ordinance would be construed to give power to have vehicles stop long enough to unload or load goods if there is no other place in the rear or other means of entrance.

The common law of prohibiting complete turns on Milwaukee street will doubtless be taken up in another ordinance governing traffic regulation. The one now being considered covers parking only.

Succeed O'Hare

Kenosha—Thad Logan, overseas veteran, became acting Chief of Police Owen Ryan, who resigned following a grand jury indictment against 20 years of age.

He was a member of the Kenosha department three years before he went overseas as a member of the United States secret-service in France. He served overseas for two and a half years, being attached to the American commission which was sent to investigate conditions in the Near East.

He was instructed that in accepting the office, he pledged himself to enforce the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city to the letter and that he would have power to remove any members of the department guilty of any violation of the law or of failing to enforce the law. The appointment of Logan came as a big surprise, as he was one of the youngest men in the department.

It took one minute and 26 seconds last year to get the return from Bento Harbor.

The Gazette will also maintain a bulletin board on which results will be magnified to those who want to know the rights, rights off the bat. Eight bulletins will be given from the west window of the editorial room on the North Bluff street side of the Gazette building.

Bulletins of the fight will also be furnished to all Gazette branch offices in neighboring towns.

HOUSE KILLS BEER

Five Wisconsin Congressmen Voted Against the Will-

Campbell Bill.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington—Passed by a vote of 250 to 93 in the house, the Illinois Campbell bill was voted in the house of the senate today with indications pointing to its adoption there before the end of the week. The bill prohibits the sale of beer to the sick and carries also amendments to the Volstead act designed to strictly limit the use of stronger beverages as medicines.

How Wisconsin Voted

In the house vote, Clason, of Oconto; Lampert, Oshkosh; Voight, Sheboygan; G. S. Gifford, of the state of Milwaukee, voted "no." All other Wisconsin members voted for the bill.

David G. Clason, a member of the Judiciary committee, made a speech in opposition, advocating beer and light wines. "The saloon," he said, "has gone forever."

Beer as "Medicine"

The anti-beer bill prevents physicians from prescribing beer for their patients. Under the opinion handed down by former Attorney General Palmer, the doctors would have been allowed to prescribe beer in practically unlimited quantities. The office of the internal revenue commissioner has had ready for some time regulations under which this beer could have been prescribed, and the Will-Campbell bill will prevent the bill from being "food" of beer.

Cut Beer as "Medicine"

In the bill, the ban on beer under the bill, a physician can prescribe only one pint of alcoholic liquor every ten days for internal use, as differentiated from external use on which there is no barrier. A physician is limited to fifty prescriptions in three months.

Manufacture and importation of liquor would be prohibited until the present stock held under government supervision for beverage purposes has been exhausted.

Up to President July 4.

The bill to prohibit beer as a medicine will be sent to President Harding before July 4, Senator Sterling of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate judiciary sub-committee in charge of a measure, said Tuesday.

Plans for the new bandstand have been completed by City Engineer C. E. Klem, and the city clerk has been ordered to advertise for bids. In case the bids are too high because of the elaborateness of the stand, they will be rejected and work deferred to next spring when other plans may be considered.

The plans call for an octagonal shaped brick and concrete double-decked structure with roof and flag pole. It would be 24 feet at the widest point each way, with each of the eight sides, 10 feet in width.

THE

CONCRETE SCORES SECOND VICTORY

Dulin's Move to Reconsider
Paving Beaten — Other
Highway Matters.

Concrete streets for Blackhawk and Valleyview additions on the east side scored a 12 to 1 victory in the council Monday night when Ald. J. J. Dulin, chairman of the highway committee, was the only one to vote in favor of his motion to reconsider action for concrete taken two weeks ago. Alderman Dulin's object in moving to reconsider was to get bids on different types of pavement, fearing that concrete would not stand the test. He backed a stone-wall in the council, with Ald. J. K. Jensen leading the 12 who voted "No."

This and other important matters pertaining to highways took up a big share of the time at the regular session of the council.

Other Highway Matters.

Among other highway matters up

Recd. of petitions from Modern Housing corporation for partial vacation of four streets in Overlook Heights.

Acceptance of Mrs. Mary M. Palmer's offer of parts of two lots to straighten out the bend at the intersection of Forest park boulevard and Logan street.

Ordering in of water, gas and sewer mains and mains in streets in Blackhawk addition to be paved with concrete this year.

Recd. of proposal that city buy a sand-pit in Second ward.

Ordering that Chatham street and North Washington street be repaired at once.

Ordering action in repairing portion of North Franklin street under railroad viaduct.

The reopening of the concrete discussion came as somewhat of a surprise as it was thought the matter would be settled two weeks ago.

Point du Lac, Watertown, Edgerton, Shorewood, and Darlington are a few of the many Wisconsin cities building concrete streets and which have built them for years. It was argued by Alderman Jensen. Question by Alderman Dulin as to what one-course concrete means, he went on to explain the better way, of course. The discussion lasted for several minutes until a roll-call showed the alderman from the Fifth ward with his motion.

To Inspect Overlook.

L. A. Avery appeared as counsel for the Modern Housing corporation for the vacation of an 80-foot strip on Cedar street, 330 feet on South Terrace, and narrow strips on South Washington and South Peir, streets, all in Overlook Heights. New streets are planned there, he said. A request has also been filed in circuit court for vacation of several lots in Hamilton's subdivision, the high way committee offering the offer of Mr. Avery that they inspect the streets there with J. A. Craig and L. A. Markham and it was voted to defer any action for two weeks, upon Alderman Dulin's resolution.

Mrs. Palmer's offer of parts of two lots without charge was unanimously accepted with the passage of Ald. John C. Harlow's motion that the only condition of her offer to the city is that the city pay the cost of moving the sidewalk when the street is straightened. Ald. Walter Holms and City Engineer C. V. Kerch were in charge of making the arrangements.

Prepare for Paving.

Property owners on the following streets to be paved with one-course reinforced concrete were given 10 days in which to start work in laying necessary water, gas and sewer laterals, as on file in the office of the city clerk: Racine, Logan to Fremont; Fremont, Racine to Sharon; Carrington, Fremont to east end of Clark; Franklin, east end of street; and Blackhawk, Clark to north end. Unless property owners do the work, it will be carried out by the city and charged up as a special assessment.

The finance committee was appointed by Mayor T. B. Welsh to investigate C. P. Beers' offer to sell seven lots to the city for $1,500 for use as a sand-pit.

"It would be well for the committee to go back and check in four years and see how much has been spent for gravel and sand," advised the mayor. "I think they will find it is quite a considerable sum."

The lots offered by Mr. Beers are situated between Thomas and Cornell streets, and Walker and Hyatt streets—numbers 189-193, 214, and 215, all in Pease's second addition.

Fix Franklin Street.

Ald. E. F. Kelly's motion relative to repairing of Chatham street was passed and Ald. L. D. Horn informed he had received assurance from the street commission that North Washington street would be repaired at once.

Street Commissioner Thomas McKune, upon motion of Alderman Harlow, was ordered to fix up North Franklin street under the viaduct and charge the cost to the railroad companies. It was brought out that railroad companies agreed that work would be started there by them last Friday, but nothing has been done. It was also voted to arrange a conference with railroad heads within 10 days relative to getting the viaduct built this year.

The Bowman Dairy company and Peter Bayes' creamery were given 10 days in which to meet with officials in regard to straightening out driveways on Center avenue in the interest of traffic intersection so as not to jam up traffic. Alderman Dulin's motion to have a policeman regulate traffic there from 7 to 11 every morning until the driveways are fixed was passed unanimously. Conditions are deplorable there mornings, it was stated.

Order "Mushroom" Light.

It was voted to install a "mushroom" or some other kind of traffic light at the corner of Center avenue and Division, Milwaukee street, the Five Points—following emphasis by Alderman Kelly of the danger there by cars going south hugging the left curb.

"It's a wonder there haven't been more accidents there," he said.

"It's a miracle," said Ald. L. J. Cronin.

Willis & Deason were given permission to store coal on their property while remodeling the old Buck garage into quarters for J. A. Strimple, but the request for building of two 20-foot driveways there—one on Division, the other on East Milwaukee—was laid over two weeks for investigation.

May Make Special Grade.

City Engineer C. V. Kerch was instructed to report back in two weeks on whether it would be advisable to establish a special grade for a new sidewalk in order to save trees on the Baldwin property on North Franklin, from Ravine to Mineral Point avenue.

"This is the third time we've passed this motion," explained Ald. L. D. Horn in offering a resolution for a new sidewalk there.

"Are there any remarks?" asked the mayor in putting the question.

"Yes," said Alderman Jensen.

COAL

There was once a substance called coal

It doesn't take a Jules Verne to imagine the time when our present-day fuel will be gone. But there is nothing frightening in the prospect. Already the world's engineering brains have cast ahead and discovered a new fuel in rain drops and dew fall—water power.

Nor is this source of power a hazy dream of the future. It's here.

In California, for example, 942,000 hydroelectric horsepower are now turning wheels, lighting cities and harvesting crops.

In the United States as a whole there are 2,000,000 hydro-electric horsepower actually at work—and this is but fifteen per cent of our available supply.

It is to the other eighty-five per cent we must look against the day when coal and oil are museum curiosities.

Just how soon hydro-electric development will come to any community must depend on local conditions—such as how long the coal supply there can advantageously compete with water power.

But in the many places where coal is scarce, it is to be had, sane common-sense thinking about the relative economy of water power will hasten its coming—to the common good.

We should all understand that water power is not the interest of any particular business—that it is not a political issue, but a great economic one which affects us all.

So its support must come from the people, whose money will be needed to finance it. And rightly so.

Conservation of our national resources is one of the first benefits of water power development. The preservation of forests, the avoidance of floods, the irrigation of arid lands are part and parcel of this program.

Truly, unharvested water is a national possession which goes to waste as long as we do not use it—and in this day of inadequate production and the high cost of living, any waste is an economic crime.

We are offering to you as an investment the preferred stock of the Wisconsin River Power Company, a water power development here in your own State. Consider the above facts concerning the future of water power, and invest in this substantial security.

NO MACHINERY TO ENFORCE MILK LAW

Council Defers Action — Ordinance Effective July 1.

Janesville's new ordinance governing the collection, sale and distribution of milk here and calling for regular inspection of herds and barns will go into effect Friday of this week.

The drawback appears to be that no means have been provided for enforcement.

Efforts of the board of health to have the council to create enforcement machinery at its meeting Monday night failed when Ald. E. H. Rummel, chairman of the finance committee, asked for two weeks time to consider it on the grounds that it called for expenditure of considerable money. His motion was defeated.

While the ordinance is effective July 1, it is impossible to get any enforcement of it until July 11 at the earliest, the board of health says, and even then it is contingent upon the council acting favorably.

The board of health offered three separate plans to the council for enforcement, as follows:

Hiring a full time inspector and furnishing conveyances and apparatus. The cost would be $4,000 to $5,000 the first year but could be reduced later after payment for a car.

Increasing salary of Dr. L. J. Woodworth, sanitary inspector, from $1,800 to $2,400 and providing him equipment with which to do the work.

Hiring C. H. Hale, inspector at the Shurtliff Ice Cream company, for part-time inspections at $12 per month, to furnish his own car.

The request was also made for a regularly established health department in the city hall.

U. S. PLEASED AT OBREGON'S STAND

Pronouncement of Policy Must be Made in Substantial Form, However.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—Mexico's pronouncement of policy, just made by President Obregon through the medium of a signed statement, should be carefully studied by the United States government and, while there has not been and will not be any official comment, nevertheless the viewpoint of the department of state turns entirely on one paragraph in which Obregon says:

"Not only have we made repeated and official declarations that the decree would not be given retroactive effect, but we have forbidden any action whatsoever that might give any such appearance."

President Obregon is sincere in making that statement, what objection has he to incorporating it in substance in a treaty with the United States? On the part of that question, the entire American contention and officials of the department of state insist that there is no other obstacle in the way of recognition of Obregon and the re-establishment of friendly relations with Mexico, than a clear understanding on that point.

Avant Substantial Move

The Washington government expressed itself formally as highly gratified with the assurance given by President Obregon in the paragraph quoted above as indicating Mexican policy but until such a declaration is made in substantial form to the United States government it can have no validity. It was not denied at the department of state that Mexico had once before given assurance that article 27 of the Mexican constitution, governing oil leases would not be retroactive but it was also pointed out that since that assurance was given the Carranza regime issued decrees which, were plainly retroactive. While those decrees were never enforced it also is a fact that they never were withdrawn and that they stand on the records as a club the could be used by any Mexican president at any time he desired. It is precisely because our Mexican executive would interpret the constitution in one way and another would feel free to interpret it in another way that Secretary Hughes has asked for a treaty between the two countries so that a violation of it could not be regarded as the mere repudiation of a previous administration but as the breaking of a solemn pact between the two countries.

The department of state is curious to know why it is that the Mexican government is so ready to give assurances to American newspapers that article 27 is not and will not be construed as retroactive but is unwilling to make such a declaration to the United States government in a form that will be permanently binding on Mexico. The inference which officials are inclined to convey is that Mexico wishes to have American public opinion believe the hard-hearted American government is oppressing her while at the same time the Obregon regime professes to be willing to meet every demand made by the United States government.

AVANT SUBSTANTIAL MOVE

The statement made here is not intended in the form of any declaration that may be made but in the substance. There may be a way out when Mexico enacts a law actually giving the meaning of the famous article 27.

"BABY DOLL" TYPE DOESN'T APPEAL TO BUSINESS MEN

Members of the Congressional church and other affiliated organizations, including old and young, will forget their home and business cares Wednesday afternoon and attend a picnic at Charlie Buff, Lake Koshkonong.

There is also a tendency among employers to be particular as to how their feminine workers should dress—or in other words, how they should be dressed.

Quietly dressed young women are preferred. Not that the穿者 are to an extent means of a seductions and suited requirements on dress, which is none of their business; but as a matter of fact a hastily dressed young woman is frowned upon in the stores and offices.

It is a matter of efficiency. They want workers, not ornaments who dress themselves up during office hours at points when the type of dress would be objectionable.

"Wear a neat, cool,ingham dress" they say. Not that it is against the law to wear what the wearer wants, but when applicants show up for a job it is long shot, the girl dressed simply, well and fully is going to get the job.

"We don't want baby dolls," is the explanation.

AMERICANS PROTEST EXORTIONATE PRICE CHARGING BY FRENCH

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris.—The effect of the high cost of living in Paris on tourist trade, as indicated by the growing frequency of complaints of extortion by Americans visiting France, is occupying the attention of the government.

The authorities hold that the tourists have the cure largely in their own hands, exaggerated prices being due in large part to indiscriminate spending by visitors, aided by the spendthrift tendency of French profligates.

Under Secretary of State Palsant, discussing the question with Americans, proposes publicity as a remedy. He has invited American visitors to join in a protest which will be published in the Paris press, and he himself will take up personally individual cases of extortion brought to his attention.

The winding up of the afternoon's program will be a baseball game between the Congregational church league team and a team of high school stars, known as the "Whizbands."

A family supper will be served at 6 o'clock. Following the supper boat races will be held. The party will return at 8:15. A crew of mechanics will accompany the party and be prepared to remedy tire or motor trouble. A doctor, dentist, and a nurse will also be part of the retinue.

"Let me give you just five of the reasons:

"In the first place, Adlon is a distinctive blend of rich Havana filler, with fine Sumatra wrapper. Adlon is the net result of some five hundred experiments in blends.

"Next, Adlon hasn't that 'gum taste' you'll get in many cigars. An exclusive Adlon process removes these 'gums'. There's nothing in Adlon to offset its goodness.

"Third, Adlon is an economical cigar. You can smoke it clear down as far as you can retain a finger-hold on it. And the last draw will be as fine-flavored as the first.

"Fourth, Adlon is a clean cigar. It is produced under unexcelled sanitary conditions and is absolutely pure.

"And last, Adlon is a cigar of unmistakable individuality in its mildness. It is exactly what a cigar ought to be for the heavy smoker; and, of course, that means it is the best cigar for any smoker."

HOPE TO CONSTRUCT ROAD THROUGH TO EDGERTON THIS YEAR

Rock county will build the concrete road through to Edgerton this year, if plans now under way are successful.

Sufficient bonds will be placed on the contract for the building of the stretch from Indian Ford north to connect with the Edgerton pavement.

Progressive measures have been taken for the sale of the bonds, for the highway is needed in the opinion of the backers of the plan to sell between $75,000 and $100,000 worth of the gulf edge highway improvement bonds now offered for sale by County Treasurer Arthur M. Church.

OUR AIR MAIL

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Just as the official ax is about to chop on the stunted wings of the Air Mail Service, due to congressional failure to provide funds for the continuance of the short-lines, the Air Mail attains 100 per cent performance on all divisions for the first time in its three-year history.

Almost coincident with the achievement of that ideal performance record, Postmaster General Hays announces the appointment of Carl F. Egge, former superintendent of the Minneapolis Air Mail station, as general superintendent of the entire system. Though Egge had 20 years' experience in the Post Office department, he is a man without a flying record.

How does this new superintendent look upon the further development of the overhead postal methods?

As he steps into office, he faces a gloomy outlook. In a few weeks the transcontinental route from New York to San Francisco will be the only mail already maintained by the government, and yet Egge does not feel disengaged over the prospects.

"I believe in the Air Mail," he declares. "It is past the experimental stage, and its development, though temporarily blocked, will come despite the discontinuance of the few short-lines we had established."

Egge believes in the Air Mail, but his training in post office affairs also makes him a firm believer in the dispatch of mail today as well as in the future, something which the public may greet with certain relief.

He does not worry about the discontinuance of the short lines, because there has been derived from them no special benefit for the communities which they served. Egge observes the passing of the Washington-to-New York, the Chicago to Minneapolis, and the Chicago to St. Louis runs without these short-lines which have been the aim of the department. These short "hops" were originally started as the first legs of what the department had planned to make an elaborate net-work of long-distance routes. Lack of funds prevented the completion of the original plans and now so threatens to block development for some time in the future that it has been advisable to abandon, temporarily, at least, hopes for large scale operation.

The trans-continental service, however, continues to bear rail delivery sufficiently to make it worthy of continuance, and it will be continued under appropriation made by Congress. Aviators and mechanics on the discontinued routes will be transferred to the trans-continental routes and as far as possible utilized on regular work or on the reserve list. Equipment will likewise be utilized on the cross-country air line.

Development of this long run will undoubtedly provide for all the experimental needs of the service, and at the same time permit men on this route, with the total 114 planes of the department at their disposal, to establish record improvement in aerial dispatch.

The loss of 19 lives during the past year—13 pilots, 5 mechanics and one official, almost twice as many as for the first two years—has been a distressing feature of the development of the Air Mail. But authorities, while pointing out that every effort is being made to improve devices and airplane mechanism which will prevent as far as possible these unfortunate accidents, likewise call attention to the fact that every great advance in science is likely to claim some toll of human life. At least each accident and every experience in cross-country flying increases the knowledge of aviation both for war and for commercial flying.

The increased loss of life this last year has been due to a certain extent to the greater hazard of operating the trans-continental route which crosses two mountain ranges. Seven of the fatalities were due to defective mechanisms of a certain type of plane which has been discarded, and six occurred while the victims were not engaged in handling mail, either on the field or in the air.

Pilots have never been required, by the Post Office department to start on their trips under weather conditions that will endanger their lives, but they sometimes meet with bad weather conditions after starting. In their eagerness to complete their trips and test their flying skill under these difficulties, they sometimes take "great risks."

Difficulties of keeping the mail moving in spite of weather conditions are revealed in the reported experience of one aviator flying over the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, in his flight from New York to Bellfonte, Pennsylvania.

"I flew at 3,000 feet," he said, "catching occasional glimpses of the ground until reaching the Delaware River, which I was able to see through a hole in the fog. I then dived down to within 35 feet of the Lehigh river. Thus he continued up through the clouds to find a clear place and then down again through a hole, endeavoring to learn where he was. Engine trouble developed before he was able to locate himself and he was obliged to alight among some trees on the mountain side.

Another Air Mail pilot tells of crashing into the mountain side near Jasper, Nev., while flying over the western end of the trans-continental route. He encountered a violent blizzard, the snow being so dense that visibility at 50 yards was the maximum. He cleared one range of mountains, where another mountain came suddenly into view 50 yards distant. He promptly pulled his guiding levers to the limit, hoping against hope to clear the mountain, but the crash was inevitable.

These accidents present the spirit of the men who are flying with the mails. Uncle Sam may at least be certain that he will not have to worry about airmen—airmen who will deliver his mail on time in the face of terrible weather odds—once he decides to go into mail flying on a truly big scale.

THAT FOREIGN DEBT.

The introduction of a bill by Senator Penrose embodying a plan of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for the liquidation of the debt of $10,141,267,685.68 of foreign nations to the U. S. is for the purpose of having that debt paid in an orderly way.

Under the secretary will be authorized to fund the debt issue bonds and to receive bonds of foreign governments as part liquidation. As it is now the debt is carried as a sort of deferred account and the secretary insists that it be placed on a safe business basis with no idea that it will ever be forgiven and that it must eventually be paid in full.

Those boys who go to Phantom Lake require something beside phantom food.

USING THE WATERWAYS.

Gradually the importance of the Mississippi river as a channel of trade is being recognized. Memphis is to spend $450,000 on new terminals and docks being built at other river ports. New lines of freighters are being organized and operated between St. Louis and the lower river ports with large tonnage, either now being handled or offered. This is one of the results of the high freight rates on the roads and will perhaps be taken up by many other sections where river navigation is possible.

The Socialists have refused to let the Reds dominate that party and Victor Berger was most outspoken about the radicals falling into the ranks. Just at the present time the red anarchist has a hard time anywhere, even in Russia. About the only place where the Soviet has a friend is among the followers of Townley.

The title of "British born blatherskite" bestowed by the caput mortuus of journalism, Mr. Hearst, upon Samuel Gompers will not be quickly forgotten by the members of the A. F. L. who gave support to this "British born blatherskite" for the presidency of that great organization.

NAGGING' RELIGION NOT FOR YOUTH

Live Creed Is Urged by Baptist Divine for Rising Generation in 1921.

Das Moines. — The young people of today, the targets of so much criticism, are not the ones to blame for their attitude, the Rev. Bernard Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Syracuse, N. Y., declared at the Northern Baptists' convention here.

"Men are charging that the new generation is irreligious," he said. "I this be so, it is futile to spend time blaming the youngsters. The only sane thing to do is to let them do in its right, and to find out what it wants in its religion."

"The time the new generations wants most," he declared, is usefulness. It demands a religious faith which prescribes no books, prohibits no course of study, banishes no contacts with the ever-widening horizons of the world's knowledge excepts no walk about itself, but frankly and毫不踌躇地 answers every life question."

"The nags don't eat worn out worn out the religion for 21," Dr. Clausen affirmed. "It insists that religion treat of life, rather than death."

When religion is able to meet those essential requirements of youth, the new generation will embrace it, Dr. Clausen declared.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette: Yes, our people were surprised to hear that Mr. Morrissey was to be let out. No one dreamed that there was to be a change in that office, as it had been the general impression that Chief Morrissey had made good, and that Janesville was never cleaner or better in law and order than it is today.

We go further—our people claim it is the cleanest city in the state, and all we have to do is compare it with Beloit, Kenosha, or any other city in the state. Of course we have heard complaints from some world-be-tiefs who figured for a change from top to bottom in Welsh's defeat. The Gazette quotes Mr. Newman, saying:

"I tried hard to get out of it. They phoned me three times and insisted that I come to Janesville and talk it over."

The commission says Mr. Newman will get a raise if he proves satisfactory. Suppose he don't—then what?

Also, the fire and police commission says, "We are ready to dig down in our pocket to pay any salary he might desire." When has it got down to the point that the city of Janesville can't pay their public servants without the fire and police commission doing it? We all felt the city had settled down to peace and quiet since the mud-throwing campaign of last spring. Yes, we live in the good old U. S. A. and not Russia. And our people feel we can pay our fire and police servants without the fire and police commission doing it. We must be getting hard up when we must go out of the city and coax a former town marshal, who says, "I tried hard to get out of it," to take the job of chief of police for Janesville.

But our people feel that Janesville is no second Hurley and that we live in the cleanest and best city in the state, and that we have had in Mr. Morrissey a clean and faithful servant.

Capt. Jonah's Fortune

By JAMES A. COOPER

Copyright by Gco. Sulu Co.

(Continued from yesterday.) The gale abated toward evening. The sky was clearing when Liphalet Trout came out of his door and started down the Shell road toward the store.

It was more habit than anything else that took him to Cap'n Abe's. The cloud that had for these past few weeks overshadowed the lonely bachelor who dwelt beside the Mariner's chapel, rested more heavily than ever upon his mind and heart this Christmas eve.

So he tramped down the Shell road in a giddy frame of mind; and upon entering into the warmth and light and bustle of Cap'n Abe's store was as much in the doldrums as ever.

The greetings showered upon him from those present, men and women alike, were hoarser than usual. Why! it seemed just as though they were waiting for Liphalet's appearance. The cheering and the hearty greetings one to another as other neighbors entered, began to impress deeply the amateur Santa Claus. Refusing to an upturned nail hog behind the stove, Liphalet tried again to wrap himself in gloom. He felt madder than he had ever felt before in all his life.

Suddenly from Cap'n Abe's living room behind the store sounded the opening bars of the "Flapper's Honeypipe" played out diddly and played hopped up. Liphalet had never heard it rendered before. He sat up straighter, his ears pricked, and his eyes began to glister.

A silence had fallen upon the thronged store. Liphalet did not notice now the smiling and significant glances cast in his direction. He was attending with all his music-loving soul to the melody of old-time sea-ditties that the master violinist was playing.

"By Hannah! who's that fiddling?" gasped Liphalet, as the music ceased.

A moment's pause. Then rose the air of "Black-Eyed Susan," played by what the deeply moved ex-steward would have called a "brass band."

The orchestral accompaniment died to a murmur and a voice took up the old song—woman-like, so sweet and compelling, that it urged at Liphalet's heartstrings. When the song ceased the apostate Santa Claus found himself on his feet with his hat in his hand and unwanted moisture in his eyes.

The grizzled old storekeeper appeared at the door. "Come in here, Liphalet," he said, lifting the flap of the counter and beckoning to the ex-steward. "Got somethin' to show ye."

Liphalet followed him unsteadily. The thrilling notes of the singer's voice still rang in his ears. He did not see that the whole scoreful of his neighbors and friends were crowding, giggling and whispering behind him into Cap'n Abe's sitting room. What held Liphalet's attention was a handsome cabinet sized talking machine, with its cover raised.

"By Hannah!" murmured the bemused Liphalet. "I wondered where Perry Baker was a-takin' that machine to."

"You don't know now," said Cap'n Abe dryly.

He waited for his audience to crowd into the room behind the buzzed "Hum." said Cap'n Abe. "We're gathered here tonight, as we might say, for one of the pleasantest occasions that's ever been my privilege to take part in. We've got a man in our midst who's proved himself a brother and friend to every man, woman and child up and down this road. There ain't a person in this here town to whom he ain't done some lastin' favor, and in some cases many of 'em."

"As this season of the year comes around, the most littlin' for us to show love-and-gratitude, it was suggested—I reckon it was a spontaneous feelin' in all our hearts—that we

The Story of Our States

XLI.—UTAH
The first white excursion into Utah dates back to 1840, when the Spanish sent out by Coronado succeeded in penetrating the Colorado river. There is no authentic record of further explorations until over 200 years had elapsed. In 1776 two Franciscan friars, in their attempt to find the shortest way to the Pacific, went from Santa Fe to Great Lake. The Great Salt Lake, however, was not crossed until 1824, when James Bridger, a trapper, in wandering through this region came upon this huge, inland, salt lake.

But the real history of Utah begins with the rise of Mormon power there. Discouraged by the agitation in Illinois and Missouri, the Mormons decided to emigrate to the Great West, in large numbers, to found a new state of their own. They started out in the fall of 1847, and reached Salt Lake City, where they settled. Here they flourished, increasing their numbers, and by 1852 they reached a total in this vicinity of over 15,000. Meanwhile, in 1848, by the terms of the treaty of peace with Mexico, a high western tract, of which Utah was a part, was ceded to the United States. As no definite government was arranged for, the control of affairs logically fell into the hands of the officers of the Mormon church. They, accordingly, made up a constitution and organized under the name of the State of Deseret. This is a word taken from the Book of Mormon, and signifies "Industry." Application was made for admission to the Union, but was refused by the federal government instead, organized the territory of Utah in 1850. The first governor was Brigham Young, the successor of Joseph Smith and president of the Mormon church.

The attempt to do away with polygamy met with little success until 1890 the Mormon church finally agreed not to practice it. Meanwhile, the growing antagonism between the Mormons and non-Mormons forced many on civil war. Finally, a general amnesty was declared and after many requests Utah was accepted as the forty-fifth state of the Union in 1896.

Broke His Vow

"After trying all remedies and doctors for stomach trouble for eight long years I decided to give up the practice, and never would never take another dose of any kind of medicine, but when I saw what Mrs. Wonderful Remedy did for a friend who also suffered from bloat as I did, I concluded to try it myself. It helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach trouble. Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON, in Care of the Gazette

The average woman yearns for beauty more than anything else. Some may think they place intellect first, but if they were to choose between ugliness and intellect and beauty with an ordinary mind, I believe that at least 99 women out of every 100 would ask for beauty at any cost.

Often I wonder if girls know what they are doing to their skins. Too much massaging with cold cream makes the skin flabby and causes wrinkles instead of preventing them.

The wrinkles do not appear at once, but the freshness of youth leaves the skin many years before the allotted time. The use of too much rouge and powder without the cream is very drying and injurious to the skin.

Girls, if you want beautiful skin later in life, be satisfied with nature's way. Cleanse the skin every night before retiring, apply a bit of cold cream when the skin is dry and pour water without the cream is dry enough to remove the shine. It is not necessary to powder at various intervals during the day. Once or twice is sufficient and keeps the skin in much better condition.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 15 years old and have been invited to a Sunday school picnic by a boy friend who is in my room at school. He is going to attend with his parents. I asked mother if I could go and she said she didn't know what would be proper. What do you think? ELEANOR C.

Yes, it would be all right to go to the picnic with the boy and his parents.

Elephants and Trunks

No one expects dainty jiggling of an elephant, and one should expect a大象的 emotional tray. But Jim Carter, even though the boy picked up in his clumsy hands was the most distinguished thing that had come to him in 50 years of doxey service in the baggage room of the Columbus Junction depot:

Dear Baggage Man: I am sorry I did not get your name. You will remember you talked with me day before yesterday, the light-haired girl with theatty hair and brown fur coat. We talked about my trunk that the hotel attached, and you promised to take care of it. It is marked "P. H. Devereaux Dam Co. Theatre." Unfortunately I left a package of letters wrapped in the cloth when you were here. The boy will fill in the blanks of the crooked man's trunk when he comes to the baggage room. Please let me know when you will be here again.

With agitated heart he lifted the trunk. He again, not at all with a sense of official wrongdoing, or of defying the sheriff, but with a deep feeling of sex shame. Arms of femininity, which he had confronted him, had unfastened stockings, bits of lace and linens whose construction meant nothing to him, belts, some satin baby slippers with high heels. By tender explorations his hands encountered no package in the top tray. He removed it.

In the under tray he unrolled a filmy petticoat, but it contained a boy's photograph in a silver frame. He rewrapped it and with moist eyes, muttering "Poor little girl," old Jim Carter unfastened rolls of garments he had avoided, unrolled them with infinite care, swiftly, unhappily, with his vision microscopically directed so that he might see something in general detail—such was his modest fear.

The letters. He found them rolled in something silk. He replaced them in the trunk and locked it, standing back with an air of reverent decision.

Someone was pounding at the door. He unbolted it and faced the surprised station agent.

"Hurry! You're powerful sociable this morning. Say, No. 2 is going to be 5 minutes late. Anything for it?" Jim Carter cleared his throat painfully.

"Yeah. They'll be one trunk for Chicago," he said.

This was the first time Jim Carter had ever received a letter from a person, and he was 51 and battered, and she 20 and lovely. Jim Carter had never before in his rigorous official life tolerated a thought of failing in his duty to the company. Years ago he had suddenly overheard an old employee, who was a son of a son, carrying a trunk to him. Carter an old employee, and not one in that stable, sun-dusty air of the baggage room had so much as contemplated cheating the company of a baggage label. However, the snug trunk, of which he was the sheriff's custodian, that he had been studying hourly since those two azure eyes had looked at him, was suddenly ironed a distance of ten feet and swerved to protect it from nicks or wear while it remained under his guardianship.

He unfastened the catches and inserted the key. The opening of the Dinner Stories

"When I was once in danger from a lion," said the old African explorer, "I tried sitting down and staring at him when we were so hungry after running and triskling along like a young lamb as she always did, on starting out. Here, too, the little fish must have had a crumb or two, and the lion must have eaten them, for when we were so hungry after running and triskling along like a young lamb as she always did, on starting out.

"How did it work?" asked his companion.

"Perfectly. The lion didn't even offer to touch me."

"Strange! How do you account for it?"

"Well, sometimes I've thought it was because I sat down on the branch of a very tall tree."

A cheery little fellow of seven, whose optimism was a perpetual surprise to his parents, was being punished by his parents for spoiling her appetite for her next meal.

He was sprawling across his parent's knees and after six strokes of the cane he muttered to himself. "It won't matter. I'd sit down much."

The next stopping place was a low marshy spot, where the violent gush and thud made the boy look up if he had a pistol, but when he saw that she would pick and pick until her pretty, dimpled hands could hold no more and then handed them over to papa, wrapping a paper around their stems so that the heat from his hands would not wither them before they reached home. She was stooping and still picking them when she reached home. She was stooping and still picking them when she reached home.

"I know," said the chairman. "Let's put him in charge of the complaint department."

When a young man says, "I'll take that matter up with the directors," he means he will take it up with his boss as long as a week. When he says, "Now, my experience in cases of this kind has been . . .," he has been there longer—maybe six months. But when he says, "I didn't; but I'll ask the boss," he probably is an old-timer there, and the boss thinks the world of him.

(Billy is a boy in Wednesday's story to make up for his disobedience.)

After trying all remedies and doctors for stomach trouble for eight long years I decided to give up the practice, and never would never take another dose of any kind of medicine, but when I saw what Mrs. Wonderful Remedy did for a friend who also suffered from bloat as I did, I concluded to try it myself. Tractor Booster Game to Wipe Out Association's Debts

BIG BOOSTER GAME WITH NASH, FIELD MEET, WEDNESDAY

Booms is the keynote in Janesville Wednesday. In the sporting line, it is "Boost for the Tractors."

In a special endeavor to bring the Tractor C. A. A. out of financial straits, a game will be played with the Nash Motors at the fair grounds at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Squads of advance ticket sellers started out Monday to canvass the city. Seats are selling at $1 each which includes war tax and admission to the grand stand.

Nash Reported Speedy.

The Nash club which appears here Wednesday is lined up to a fast combination. On Sunday the automobile was caused an 11-inning tilt from the Buick Motors of Flint, Mich. Baxter, who twirls for the Nash outfit, held the edge over Baxter of the Buicks.

Nash is a fighting aggregation, according to press reports. They won on Sunday when Goeing pulled the squeeze play in the eleventh.

Wednesday's game will be rendered an invitation to the members of the Wisconsin Society of Chicago to attend. Help of the Chamber of Commerce has been given in advertising the game and the putting on of the early tee-off sale. The Wisconsin society will hold its annual summer outing here.

Field Events at 2 P. M.

Efforts to bring Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis here Wednesday as a feature of the program have not met with success so far. The committee is still working on it, however.

Prior to the baseball game, there will be demonstrations staged by the members of the local cavalry troop and also by the men of the auto corps. There will also be athletic field events participated in by the players of both teams and in which the public is invited to compete. These features of the program will commence at 2 o'clock.

Georges Shaves His Hair Off

Manhattan, N. Y.—A tall young man in a blue sweater and grey trousers stood inside the gate of Georges Carpenter's training camp Tuesday. He wore no hat, and his hair, short close to the head was hardly discernible. "I say," said a youth who jumped from a bicycle, "how's Georges today?"

"I'm fine, thank you," said the young man at the gate.

"I am very well, and how are you?"

The youth realized then that he was talking to the challenger himself.

Not So Handsome.

"Aw gee, whiz, Georges," he said mournfully, "you ain't as good looking as you were," and Georges threw back his shoulders and laughed.

Monday the tonsorial artist of Manhattan visited the camp with his clippers and when he went back to his shop on Manhattan Hill he carried the challenger's hair with him.

"This is my souvenir,"

All members of the camp were buying the challenger Tuesday because of his almost bald pate, and addressed him, after the manner of the youth in the road, as "Geo. Whiz, Georges."

After the morning road work & rest was prescribed for the Frenchman. He was said to be working secretly before noon with Charles Lebœuf, the French bantamweight champion.

16 HOME RUNS FEATURE OTHERWISE QUIET DAY, CUBS, BREWERS LOSE

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Kelly made his tenth home run in the game with the Phillies Monday, but his four baser was only one of seven made in the game, won by Philadelphia from New York 12 to 8. Lebœuf scored two circuit wins.

Chicago's Cubs were hit unmercifully Monday by the Pirates who capped the honors 10 to 2. Timely hitting plus excellent fielding marked the victory. Kelleher scored a home run for Chicago.

Scoring two runs ahead of him, Daubert made a home Monday and Cincinnati broke its losing streak by beating St. Louis, 5 to 2.

Miller and Bœeckel engaged in a fast fight at Brooklyn when the Boston players had bats behind them hitting the Dodger catcher. Both were put out of the contest, Grimes made his fifth straight for the Robins, 5 to 2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Mails showed his wares to Sisler twice Monday by striking him out with men on second and third and Cleveland whipped St. Louis, 4 to 2. Brown outbarred the Indians.

Coming to life in the eighth and ninth innings, this red team defeated Philadelphia, 6 to 5. Lebold threw from the plate to complete a double play.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

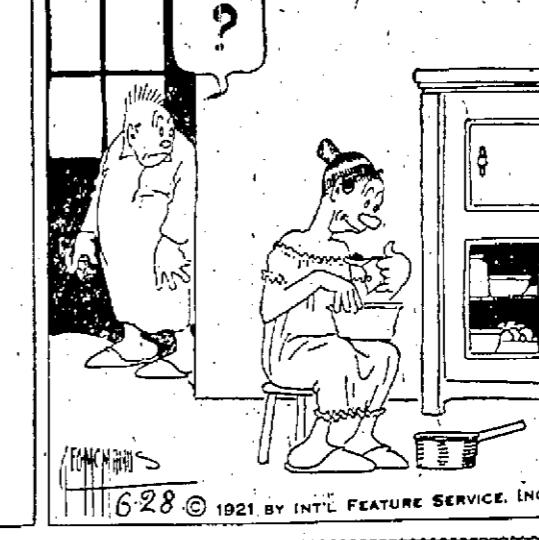

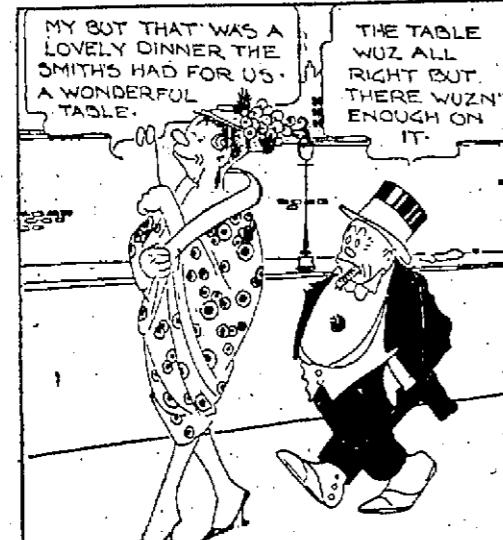

Cantillon's Millers took part in a batting bee Monday at the mercy of the Brewers and took the blue ribbon, 10 to 5. The Minneapolis outfit got 20 blows, two of them homers by Rondane.

Bald's Duke home run with the bases full won for Indianapolis over Columbus, 8 to 7. Shinnars also scored a four-bagger.

Four pitchers failed to stop Kansas City who beat St. Paul, 9 to 1.

DEMPSEY REACHES TOPMOST PITCH OF CONDITIONING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Atlantic City. — Jack Dempsey Tuesday was within 48 hours from the end of his training grind. The champion is scheduled to do his boxing in public Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday. After the secret work-out with the heavyweights Monday, Dempsey probably will box with the lighter men in camp in the two final sessions with the gloves.

The champion and his handlers had no explanation to offer Tuesday for the secret workout late Monday afternoon. Dempsey worked out in the stuffy old hangar a quarter a mile back of his camp. An announcement was made that he would make a day or two of it. Five correspondents managed to get by the guarded gate along with Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion.

No Danger of Staleness.

Perhaps the reason the title holder decided to work in secret was to satisfy himself that he had not gone stale or slowed up in his boxing or footwork. Some noted trainers and athletes have been strong in the opinion that they believed Dempsey was too finely drawn that he had over-trained and was on the verge of going stale. But the champion, in his workout Monday, satisfied those privileged to watch it that he is at the top of his form and no danger of going stale.

Dempsey had not finished driving powerful rights and lefts into the heavy fast stuffed bag before he broke off into a sweat. He started his practice with three rounds of changing the light bag and then he waded into the heavy target. He worked for nearly one hour with only intervals of 30 seconds between three minute rounds, going two each with Eddie O'Hare and Larry Williams.

Dempsey battered Williams with less consideration than the veteran sparring mate desired. Several of his blows to the body forced Williams to grunt with pain and retreat.
